Painters Run Road Reopens to Traffic; Short Stoppages in Work Zones Continue

PITTSBURGH – The Department of Public Works announced today that Painters Run Road has reopened to traffic. It has been closed near McMillan Road in Upper St. Clair since July 29, 2020, as part of an ongoing project. The restriction was required for an investigation and the filling of an unmarked underground mine void near the road.

As previously announced, paving work will continue on Painters Run Road between Bower Hill Road in Scott Township and Cedar Boulevard in Mt. Lebanon until the end of next week, weather permitting. The majority of that work is occurring overnight – between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. Monday-Saturday. The department worked with the affected municipalities for a waiver of their noise ordinances and have notified the property owners who might be impacted by the night work.

While paving work is taking place, drivers can expect to experience short stoppages in work zones. Flaggers are being used to control traffic, and drivers are urged to use caution in the area.

After the paving work is complete, crews will return to working between daylight hours only – 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. – until the project ends later this month.

The project is being done by Northeast Paving, a division of Eurovia Atlantic Coast, LLC, of Pittsburgh, as part of the $10.7 million 2019 Capital Roads contract.
