- ATTENDANCE: Virtual – ZOOM: There will be Orientation, four-day Foundations of Strength-Based Practice classes, and Six Core Courses which all must be completed to be approved to take the Temple University SFW Credential Test. Once a student passes the test, they will attend a Seven Week SFW Practicum through the Temple CANVAS system. If a student fails, the test they can retest twice. There is a fee of $30.00 for each retest.
- ASSIGNMENTS: Students are expected to complete in-class assignments and discussions during the Foundations and Core Course sessions. They are designed to extend what is learned in class and to practice new skills. Some of the modules may require students to read pre-session articles or view subject related videos prior to classes.
- Students will be registered in the Temple University Registrar at the beginning of the SFW program. Before taking the Credential test, Temple will enroll students in their CANVAS on- line educational system where they will create their pass codes for the test and completion of the Seven-week Practicum. Practicums are scheduled to begin within two weeks after the testing date. If a student fails the test, they will be required to retest and pass before they are assigned to the practicum.
- Temple will send students the required Practicum Assignment Tracking Sheet and Protocols which will list the dates of the practicum sessions, and assignments due.
- The Practicum work will be scored using a point system. Temple will deduct points for late assignments received. Missing assignment responses and low scores can hamper your ability to receive your credential, which will lead to failure of the complete course.
- If an unusual circumstance occurs whereby a student must temporally postpone their practicum assignments, the student must get approval from their supervisor and complete the SFW Practicum Extension Policy Request Form and return it to the SFW Manager who will review and return it to Temple University Harrisburg.
- Once Temple approves the extension, a date is scheduled for a continuance. There is an additional $100.00 cost for the extension which the student or their employer is responsible for making payment to Temple University Harrisburg SFW.
